passing outside long rows of the famous, se-called, 'flower boats'-really floating places of resort, some of them quite large two-storied, gilded, mirrored and chandeliered Moored side by side, these latter form regular floating streets, and people on them pass freely from one to the other. Some of them are, it is said, of questionable character, but the greater number are not. To these latter Chinamen go at night only - at least seldom in daytime-as to a club, to have suppers and to have girls sing and dance before them. This is the outcome of the Chinese social system which makes it improper for a man to bring his gentlemen friends home to enjoy an evening's singing in his own and his women-folks'

Commonly known as the 'slipper boat,' because shapfurnished, from January 1 to June ed like a Chinese slipper, i.e., enclosed at the toe and wide open at the heel. Mr Clark has travelled eight miles in one hour in one of them. They are propelled by four men-sometimes two men and two women, uniting their strength on two oars

Then passing MAEIRION No. 2, the Peak, 6 Room through streets of gambling resorts and the Wi House near the Flagstaff; from fruit markets, we call on Mr and Mra Bridie, of the English Wesleyan Mission. Was in the house where the father of Mr. George Pieroy, Jr., of Hongkong, lived while in China. He was the pioneer of Wesleyan Missions at Canton, and is now retired in England. This adjoined the house in which Mr Ball's father died and

This is outside the city wall. Mr Ball thought we might have come upon this process of law in actual operation, though he did not confide this to me, and, finding it not to be so, he thought we might at least see a head fresh and gory, and actually asked an old villain on the spot if he could produce such-for a consideration. But the Chinaman was too many, and, I suppose, had no desire to recall too recent scenes, for, when he laid open a private receptacle, he disclosed an ancient skull, -which might have been the only remaining relic of his own piratical grandsire. During the days of the Boxer uprising (1900) when Li Hung-Chang was Viceroy of the Two Kwang, and when heads fell thick and fast, this was not considered to be sufficiently public for the purpose, and a number of other places, much more frequented, were the scenes of many decapitations. As many as 60 to 70 in one week was the record at that time, as old Li believed in impressing the lawless, and in preventing the troubles from gaining a foot-hold within his jurisdiction. He also strangled many cri minals on the spot of their supposed crimes or on the street or vacant ground adjacent. Eight were so strangled within sight of the Hongkong steamer

In fact, the River constitutes Canton's easiest and best means of communicationthe beats being the cabs, or whatever you like to call them, and the boat population and life are wonders in themselves. Oity and into the Old City through the Great South (double) Gate. These gates, of course, an is the case with the whole City Wall, were built for the purposes of defence, and the double gates were placed at points otherwise easily assailable, and for greater security. for greater security.

Mr Ball here hought a book of poems, in twenty volumes, composed by Chinese Anthors of 1500 years ago for about Mex.

$1.50, or less than 75 cents Canadian currency. A price double that was asked, but such is the Chinese way of bargaining and getting the full value and more if possible. Accordingly, the dealer was beaten down, but finding the price asked still too high, we left the store, and returning and feigning indifference as to purchasing, got the lot at a price we considered fair.

Visited American Presbyterian Chapel near by, where Rev. Charles Preston (Mrs. O. F. Wisner's father) preached daily to the Chinese, when really dying on his feet. This was about fifteen years ago. SOME SHORTS.

Next visited the water-clack, or 'Copper Jar Water-Dropper,' as the Chinese call it. This is an ancient-thinese invention, and one of the sights all tourists see in conton. It consists of four copper vessels, in steps one above the other, with water dripping from each of the upper ones to that immediately below it - the bottom one containing a float with a brass opright coming through a slit in the top and engraved with the Clanese hours, which, rising with the rising of the water, indicates the flight of time. Without reflecting much about it, it seemed to me that two tube instead of four might ! have been made to answer the purpose, but, on Mr Ball's enquiring for me of the Chinese attendant, he was informed that the fear tabs represented respectively the sun, moon, stars and constellations, which may be a truly good reason according to Chinese ideas. We next turned along the 'Avenue of a Benevolence and Love,' the longest and one of the straightest streets in Canton, running from the West Gate right through the centre of the City to the East, Gate.

THE TEMPLE OF BORRORS. Our next stopping-place is the 'Temple of Florrors,' as Europeans, know it or the · Temple of the God of the City.' The Chinese believe that in the next world there is a full set of officials, as in a Chinuse City in this world, and former Govgenera of Canton are supposed to rule over it in turns. They also believe that there are ten judges in Hades. Part of the entrance to this temple is taken up with small compartments, five on either side, with large-sized figures representing the courts of these different judges, and the punishments inflicted by their order. These ponishments, so far as we could make out and remember, are as follows;

1. Being boiled in molten lead of boiling 2. Being ground in a mill-including a representation of a dog below waiting to lick up the blood;

3. Being placed between two boards and -awn asander: 4. Being turned into lower animalsrepresentation shewing a man actually in the process—partly man and partly beast;
5. Being flogged on the bare 'nether-tackle'—being laid out on the ground, face downwards, for the purpose. The others, on account of the had state of repair in which they are, and our being very much hurried, we could not quite

I should also note the representation of the Judge's Looking-glass, by which he is able to see all the deeds done in this life by those he is called upon to judge. The whole entrance to this temple also is infested with gamblers, fortune-tellers of various kinds, and the sides lined up with the stalls of miscollaneous vendors, and my friend recalls the necessity on the part of Christ to east out the money changers, &c.,

THE NEW DOCK SCHEME. To the Editor of the 'CHINA MAIL.' Hongkong, November 14:

Sir,-The estimates laid before the shareholders of the Hongkong and Whampon Dock Co. by the Directors give the total cost at $2,545,907. Since this estimate was formed exchange has fallen seriously-and may well do so still moreconsequently the cost of pumping gear, authority for saying the above estimate is bear the full force of the N.E. monsoon, as long constructed. I venture, with defer- without in any way interfering with its once, to assert that this 200 feet breakwater | constant use. will have to be built on about the same

The breakwater at improvements carried out in the lest three in. Colombo cost 6,000,000 rupeca.

Alluding to sea walls, it is well worth remembering that although the Hongkong Government is credited, most deservedly, with doing good work, the Praya Wall built some years ago at Kowloon disappeared entirely in a typhoon and can still be traced by the debris a few feet below the surface of the sea. By Clause 10 of the conditions of purchase, at least a sum of $50 000 has to be spent over and above the cost of reclamation, and all this within five years! It would be inturesting to learn if the author of this Clause cared for anything in connection with Hongkong beyond getting his own services paid for in gold. Such brains usually find their way into the army. vide the report on the military education of officers in the August number of the Secretary). Empire Ravious. [The Clause referred to by our correspondent, we understand, has been modified, as announced by us in Monday's issue. - En., C. Mi]

The acquisition of 1,388,812 square feet of land means practically acquiring three-quarters as much land as we possess now. I am anxious for the Company to acquire more land if really wanted, but the abovementioned extent is surely beyond all reasonable requirements, more especially when the terms are considered.

I am supported by able opinion when I assert the new dock scheme cannot be carried out for a fraction less than $4,000,000. This cost, at 6 per cent, means an annual charge of $240,000 for interest on capital sunk; but this does not take into account the further charges for European and native staff that must follow the completion of the new dock. The question may now be Can shareholders reasonably hope this one additional dock will give a prefit to increase the present income by at least $250,000, and this in spite of the government work being withthese points-and more especially the fol-

If under more favourable introduction of the new ordinance, which circumstances it was not considered reasonable or prudent to involve the shareholders ance to be given in respect of the in the undertaking without a subsidy, why rateable value of all premises supplied should it be wise to build now in face of the opposition, which mouns the withdrawal of Gevernment and Taikon work !

Surely the Directors must be prepared to give us their reasons for this change of policy before expecting the shareholders' sanction. The circular issued hardly touches this question, and certainly does not carry conviction that their change of procedure is justified. In my own mind, I am convinced the late Chief Manager, from his long and faithful services, gained an undue influence with the Board of Directors. In fairness, it should be said that this was not unnatural, but it now turns out unfor-It is an easy matter to be wise after the event, and I wish in no way to cast reflections on the then Directors. docks. It is generally understood that three Directors oppose the scheme, and a fourth very honourably says, although he thinks it desirable, it would not puy the shiereholders. The apposing Directors hold large interests as investing shareholders, and also control a vast amount of Dock business, and for these reasons their opinions carry proportionately more weight with general holders of stock. Consider, then, the following question. Is it reasonable to expect shareholders to take up stock at 150 per cent, premium with the absolute certainty of waiting tive years before a frac tion of dividend can be paid on this? have no difficulty in deciding for myself-flection, on the points brought forward they will now admit the time is not ripe for extensions without a substantial sub- amended to one of common assault, and sidy and is not likely to be so.

When one considers how much the wealth and prosperity of Hongkong is due to the docking facilities afforded both to the Navy and Mercantile fleets, it seems incredible that the Government can act with such want of judgment in demanding terms as they have for the land when no subsidy is granted. Happily, former government officers of this Colony better understood the needs of this place than to strangle enterprises like the one under consideration. It is reserved for the present administration to do this. Where is the consistency in giving land at 10 cents in one instance and demanding 274 cents in another, when in both cases the land is to be used for the same purpose? In the case of the Dock Company, eleven onerous conditions are imposed. Some of these are exceptionally unreasonable. Doubtless, shareholders will reject the terms in toto. If in time of war the need of this dock is felt to a serious extent, how much the memory of the responsible official will be revered !

It is to be regretted the Governors of our Colonies are not selected from the merchant classes. If this were the case, their commercial training would make them better fitted to control the needs of centres of industry like Hongkong. This cannot he better exemplified than in the case of Mr Chamberlain as Colonial Secretary. really capable Administrator would, without hesitation, press for a subsidy from the Home authorities for such a scheme as this in the interests of the Colony itself; but this seems a subject beyond the present

AMOY NOTES.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

POLITICAL CHANGES. Amoy, November 29. put the matter on a sound footing, but be companies wholly or almost wholly devoted

The old Road Committee, elected work up to now, but, having no real power, suggestions. The new body (by whatever name it may call itself) will be in a much better position, since it will have the power to compel obedience to its regulations. is a hard thing to teach the Chinese the under what circumstances, the play was virtue of cleanliness, but in future those who cannot learn and will not obey will have to transfer themselves where they can the somewhat more limited circumbe dirty with impunity.

CRICKET. The advent of a British warship always means 'ericket,' in Amoy, at any rate. So last Wednesday the first match of the season was played on the Recreation Ground, and resulted in a very good game, in which the Visitors managed to best Amoy. The days are short, so there was only time for one innings each. The team of the battleship Golinth went in first, and made 104, but, viz., 50, while two or three others got up 108, Pratt making the highest score (27) for his side, and several others doing well. Mr Pratt also took six wickets. A return match will be played on Wednesday next, when we may hope Amoy will be Orsino was neither an old fogey, nor was successful. Then if the Goliuth stays long enough, the final match of the rubber can

ST ANDREW'S BALL. Yesterday evening, a Ball in honour of St Andrew's Day was held in the Amoy Club Theatre, beautifully accorated for the (2) Why are the Water Accounts for occasion. With so many gun-boats in this year, the event has assumed a greater pettishly; but the turning-of-the-tables is importance than usual, for what ladies bu gallant defenders of the deep? Their ballroom a scene of beauty as well as gaiety! The ball was a great success, and the Hon. Secretary, Mr J. McArthur, and the members of his Committee, merit the congratulations showered upon them.

The boldness of the Amoy pirate is prokeeping up a well-earned and notorious reputation. Only a few nights-ago, an up-country cargo boat, belonging to Kung Po Chung, was pirated quite close to Amoy, near a small island called Monkey Island. Luckily, the crew of the cargo boat were prepared for the assault, and returned the fire with no little success, for they shot one man, and took four others prisoners, and these men are now awaiting trial by the Chinese Mandarina responsible for keeping the peace. Not only is the coast from Foochow down to Swatow infested with these miscreants, but the numerous inlets near Amor form suitable places for their Stanley, who was the Maria, won another rendezvous, from which they now and again pounce down upon unsuspecting passage through. Mr Albert Goldie had the bonts, and often enough get safely away with considerable booty. So that it is quite refreshing to hear of their being caught sometimes, and some of the rascals getting their deserts. Night is an exceedingly pretty play. Beyond offering this modest note of approbation, we do not intend to rival those anconscious comodians whose delight it is to tell all about how, when, and where, and written, the comical commentations of the minor critics who reak to bring the pactdramatist's wit and his philosophy within ference of their own artistic perception. It is of the performance itself we desire to speak our mind. It was neither a great success nor a great failure. Like the curate's egg 'It was excellent in parts;' in other parts it was worse than insipid. We are always both to throw cold water upon budding genius, but like the flowers that bloom in the spring, the buds of the stage of times thrive best after a gentle touch of the spray. The salient weaknesses of last night's entertainment were the Duke of Mr Macken, the Olivia of Miss Yorko-occasionally Mr Bayfield's Sir Andrew, which should be one of the princi-McKinley making nearly half off his own | pal pillars of the piece; and the unfortunate scenic jumble, which left sets sometimes wingless for more moments than even a into double figures. Mr Bayfield does of Illyria was a bigger ass than the spoiled ness' which should make the combat scene a fountain of mirth inexpressible, and generally give echo to the laughter born of Sir Toby's brag and blusters. The difficulty experienced in working the necessary heavy 'sets,' very probably put the players out of joint; and, therefore, doubly creditable are the successes to which we now turn with pleasure. Winsome in aspect, convincing and graceful in her acting, Miss Waldorf, as Viola, compelled admiration. She suits the doublet and hose which worried Rosalind so much-we will soon have an opportunity of seeing her in "As You Like It'; there is neither constraint nor vulgar assurance in her carriage. Mr Mr Gregor was capital as Malvolin; his prancing gait and mineing manners, the grotesque picture in yellow hose cross-gartered, made up the personification of peacock pride and ludicrous greenness, which the Steward is supposed to be. Mr Forbes looked and acted the traditional Sir Toby. His spiritual elevation scene was as comical as Compton's similar play in Garrick. He was the very goark and spice of knightbood. Miss Amy well deserved success. There was a delicious thoroughness about her acting all part of Sebastian to play, no mean The piece haugs or falls by the resemblance or lack of resemblance between Viola and her brother. Mr Goldie's 'double' was splendid. The similarity was unuis takeable. His acting was in rune with his m ke up; just the part, no troubled by an indisposition which will, we hope, pass away before this evening's performance, acted very well as the Clown. His song was applauded. A pretty ballet is introduced in the ducal palace scene.

WHAT YOU WANT TO KNOW about a life assurance company is just what you would want to know about a bank or any other institution in which you thought of investing :--

What is the company's earning ability as shown by its past history? What is the outlook for future dividends as indicated by its accumulated surplus?

These two questions answered. and the rest is of secondary importance. Any agent of the Equitable will answer these questionsor any others-to your satisfaction.
